Ubuntu Storytellers Present:
"The Long Echo of a Moment"

Tuesday, Feb 3rd | 6:30-8pm

Community Room & Zoom | Register

The Ubuntu Storytellers, an ensemble of performance artists from across the Diaspora, are joined by guests who will tell personal stories of allyship. Contemporary stories of needing an ally, of being an ally and of the second guessing that sometimes comes after. Stories of being imperfect, unsure. Stories of being heard by the right someone at the right time. We tell these stories to celebrate when we step up and step in, as well as to acknowledge that sometimes it can be difficult to show up, speak up. Mostly we tell so we can feel together the impact of "the long echo of a moment." Sponsored by the NewAlliance Foundation in New Haven, CT.

Art of the African Diaspora:
A Virtual Tour of the Amistad Center

Tuesday, Feb 17th | 7-8pm | Zoom | Register

Founded in 1987 and housed within The Wadsworth Atheneum, the Amistad Center was inspired by the historical Amistad ship, whose African captives famously revolted for their freedom in 1839. Its collection of 7,000 works of art and artifacts document over three centuries of the beauty, struggle, and spirit of Black life in America and beyond. Explore its permanent and visiting exhibitions in this one-hour virtual tour led by members of the Center's staff!

YOU'RE INVITED TO THE REVEAL!

Thursday, Jan 29th | 7pm

Across from the Information Desk & Live on Facebook

No registration required

Join us either in person at the library's Information Desk or via Facebook Live as we reveal the 2026 One Book One Wallingford title. We'll hear from the book's author, share some background on the book and provide a preview of the wonderful programs we have planned. There will also be cake and beverages to celebrate this year's town-wide read! Copies of the book will be available to check out or purchase at the event.

The goal of One Book One Wallingford is to bring the community together in reading and discussing the same book. After a series of book discussions and events related to the title, we will gather together for a visit with the author.

We have been revealing clues about the 2026 One Book One Wallingford title throughout the month of January. Clues are posted in the library, on our YouTube channel, and on our Instagram, and Facebook pages. Anyone who guesses the book title correctly before the reveal will be entered into a drawing to win a copy. The first person to guess the title correctly will also win a copy of the book. You may guess as many times as you'd like, but only one correct guess per person will be included in the final drawing. The first three clues are listed below! Stay tuned for more information about the events planned for One Book One Wallingford 2026!

CLUE #1: The book was published in 2024.

CLUE #2: The author used to live in Connecticut.

CLUE #3: Truth be Told Book Club's March title was selected in part because it is thematically connected to the OBOW title.

tech Training

Tech Connect

Everything is going online—the bank, the pharmacy, the DMV. So you need to be online, but maybe you never had the chance to learn how. You may have tried to teach yourself, but that can be overwhelming and confusing. The library can help! Tech Connect is a free service staffed by digital navigators who will teach you what YOU want to do on your devices. Our digital navigators will develop a customized plan to help you successfully connect to the online world. This includes one-on-one training and assistance in signing up for low-cost home Internet as well as a long-term loan of your very own computer. Call us at (203) 626-4774 to meet with a digital navigator.

Do you feel like technology has left you behind? Do you have a burning question but don't know who to ask? Come catch up with Digital Navigators Elijah and Connor as they teach beginner classes in computer topics and answer your most important questions.

Dear IT: Apple Watch Basics

Saturday, Feb 7th | 2-3:30pm | Collins Room | Adults | Register

Do you want to learn how to use your Apple Watch to its fullest potential? Maybe you're a fitness enthusiast looking to get more metrics from your daily run, or maybe you just want to stay connected with loved ones in case of an emergency. In this hands-on class, Connor will explore the essential features of the Apple Watch, from setting up and customizing watch faces to managing notifications and settings. You'll also learn how to make the most of the powerful health and safety tools built into your device, including Fall Detection, heart rate and AFib monitoring, and the Health app. Whether you're brand new to the Apple Watch or just want to get more out of yours, this session will help you feel confident using it every day.

Tories, Spies, and Traitors: Divided Loyalty in Revolutionary Connecticut

Tuesday, Feb 10th | 7-8pm | Community Room & Zoom | Register

Which side are you on? That's the question that every single person in Connecticut had to answer in 1775, as the thirteen colonies began a rebellion against British rule. Loyalty was not only a matter of words or opinion. For soldiers and civilians alike, loyalty could mean loss of fortune, of friends, and even of life. This presentation by the CT Museum of History and Culture reveals stories—some famous, some obscure—of Nutmeggers who risked and sacrificed to support their chosen side during this “tumultuous jarring time of civil war.” Join us for a fascinating look at a lesser-known side of the Revolution in honor of America's 250th!

I Do: The History of Wedding Fashion and Tradition

Tuesday, Feb 24th | 7-8pm | Community Room & Zoom | Register

Join us to learn all about the modern history of matrimonial ceremonies! Based on the New Canaan Museum & Historical Society's 2023 exhibition of the same name, this program will explore the evolution of wedding styles, rituals, and customs in the West over the last 150 years. We will discuss the rise of the “white wedding,” the use of World War I parachutes as bridal fabric, and other historical anecdotes, along with legal changes that reflected shifting social mores. This illustrated presentation will include photographs of both the fashions and the change-makers who shaped the modern wedding. Nancy Geary, Executive Director of the New Canaan Museum, will lead this one-of-a-kind lecture!

NEW! Wallingford Writers' Guild

Wednesday, Feb 25th | 6:30-8pm | Collins Room

Are you seeking a small, supportive writing community for adults? Look no further! In this new program that meets on the final Wednesday of each month, we'll write fun, short pieces in the form of blogs, diaries, micro-fiction, self-care journaling, zines, and much more. Each meeting will be a series of short exercises and prompts. As a group, we'll build creative practices for daily living. No previous writing experience is necessary. This workshop series will be led by Kathleen Stewart, a cultural anthropologist and writer with over 30 years of experience teaching writing all over the world.

Tax Season and Tax Assistance

Tax filing season is around the corner and the library is ready to help in partnership with the Human Resources Agency of New Britain. Federal 1040 Income Tax Forms in both English and Spanish as well as 1040 Instruction Booklets typically arrive at the library in late January. You can also find the forms (and schedules) available online to download and print: rebrand.ly/IRSforms

The State of Connecticut encourages residents to file their income taxes electronically and no longer provides paper forms to Connecticut Libraries. You can file your CT State Income Tax forms electronically here: rebrand.ly/CTefile
Or you can download and print paper forms here: rebrand.ly/CTtaxforms

If you earned less than $69,000 in 2025, you may be eligible for free tax preparation services from IRS-certified tax preparer volunteers through HRA of New Britain. In-person appointments at the library will take place on most Saturdays from 10am to 2pm starting Jan 24th until April 13th. You may call to make an appointment at (860) 356-2000 or visit their website through this shortened link: walpublib.org/VITA

Appointments fill up quickly so we encourage you to make an appointment as soon as possible! While librarians can help you find the forms you need, library staff members are not involved in the tax preparation process. If you have questions about this tax preparation service, please contact HRA of New Britain at (860) 225-8601. We are proud to partner with VITA each year as one of their locations to provide this free, volunteer-run tax preparation service for Wallingford residents.

Book Clubs

Hibernation Book Club: Long Reads for Short Days

Bleak House by Charles Dickens

Tuesdays, Jan 27th, Feb 10th & 24th, March 10th & 24th | 5:30-7pm | Collins Room & Zoom

Discussion moderated by Readers Advisory Librarian Cindy Haiken

If you have always wanted to read big classic works of literature but have been daunted by their length and supposed complexity, we have a book club just for you! In the Hibernation Book Club, we will read one long classic novel every winter, dividing it up into shorter sections and meeting six times over the course of three months to work our way through it.

Our title for the winter of 2026 is Bleak House by Charles Dickens. Published serially in 1852–53 and in book form in 1853 and considered to be one of Dickens' best novels, Bleak House is the story of the Jarndyce family, who wait (and wait and wait) to inherit money from a disputed fortune in the settlement of the extremely long-running lawsuit known as Jarndyce and Jarndyce. Filled with a large cast of memorable characters and told partly by the novel's heroine Esther Summerson and partly by an omniscient narrator, Bleak House helped lead to the enactment of legal reform in Britain in the 1870s. In this six-part program, we will read Bleak House in installments of approximately 160 pages each and meet every other week to discuss it.

For details about meeting virtually or in-person, contact Readers Advisory Librarian Cindy Haiken at chaiken@wallingfordlibrary.org

Mystery Book Club

The Burglar in the Library by Lawrence Sanders

Wednesday, Feb 4th | 3-4:15 pm | Zoom

Discussion moderated by Professor and Author Carole Shmurak

Bookseller and burglar Bernie Rhodenbarr planned a romantic weekend at a New England inn with his girlfriend in the hopes of stealing a first edition of The Big Sleep from the inn's library. But when she announces that she can't go with him because she's getting married, he brings his best friend and his cat instead. Then a surprise guest appears, another guest is found dead, and everyone is snowed in with no way to reach the outside world.

To participate, contact Carole at cshmurak@gmail.com and put "Wallingford Mystery Book Club" in the subject line.

Classics Book Club

The Great Gatsby by F. Scott Fitzgerald

Thursday, Feb 5th | 6:30-8pm | Collins Room & Zoom

Discussion moderated by Readers Advisory Librarian Cindy Haiken

First published in 1925, this novel of the American Jazz Age is the story of the mysteriously wealthy Jay Gatsby and his love for the beautiful Daisy Buchanan, who is married to the millionaire Tom Buchanan. It is also the story of Gatsby's friendship with Daisy's cousin Nick Carraway, who moves to Long Island in 1922, eager to leave his native Midwest and WWI behind. Fitzgerald's short work is widely considered to be one of the greatest American novels of the 20th century.

For details about meeting virtually or in-person, contact Readers Advisory Librarian Cindy Haiken at chaiken@wallingfordlibrary.org

Thursday Night Book Club

Breathing Lessons by Anne Tyler

Thursday, Feb 19th | 6:30-8 pm | Collins Room & Zoom

Discussion moderated by Readers Advisory Librarian Cindy Haiken

Maggie and Ira Moran are on a road trip from Baltimore, Maryland to Deer Lick, Pennsylvania to attend the funeral of a friend. Along the way, they reflect on the state of their marriage through their quarrels, their routines and their ability to tolerate each other's faults with patience and affection. Set over the course of one emotionally fraught day, Tyler's 1988 novel won the Pulitzer Prize for Fiction in 1989.

For details about meeting virtually or in-person, contact Readers Advisory Librarian Cindy Haiken at chaiken@wallingfordlibrary.org

Novelty

What's new in novels
from Cindy Haiken

In her wonderful children's novel The Wolves of Willoughby Chase, Joan Aiken writes: "It was dusk—winter dusk. Snow lay white and shining over the pleated hills, and icicles hung from the forest trees." There are few times of the year better suited to a great read than a long winter evening. Luckily, publishing houses agree, as February's new release calendar is filled with a big list of terrific new novels that are perfect to read while snuggled under a thick blanket with a hot beverage nearby. Here is a sample:

The Astral Library by Kate Quinn — A woman who spends her free time reading fantasy novels at the Boston Public Library finds a way to escape into her favorite book.

A Better Life by Lionel Shriver — A New York family takes in a Honduran immigrant, who may or may not be the innocent paragon she claims to be.

Brawler by Lauren Groff — A collection of short stories that reflect on the battle between the kinder and darker sides of human nature.

Dirty Metal by Allison LaMothe — A woman who works for a tabloid newspaper starts to report on the Russian criminals moving to Brooklyn's Brighton Beach.

The End of Romance by Lily Meyer — An anti-romantic granddaughter of Holocaust survivors finds herself at odds with her own beliefs when she falls in love with not one, but two men.

The Girls Before by Kate Alice Marshall — A search-and-rescue agent who has never stopped looking for her missing best friend finds evidence that implicates a powerful family.

Head of Household by Oliver Munday — A short-story collection that depicts the evolving role of fatherhood in contemporary society.

How to Get Away with Murder by Rebecca Philipson — A Scotland Yard detective tries to find the author of a self-help book that promises quite literally to teach readers how to get away with murder.

I Give You My Silence by Mario Vargas Llosa — This final novel by the Nobel Prize-winning novelist is about a Peruvian music lover who wants to write a biography of the man he believes to be the country's finest musician.

I'm Not the Only Murderer in My Retirement Home by Fergus Craig — After a former serial killer is released from prison and moves into a retirement home, one of the residents is murdered.

Drop-In Programs

Graphics Office Hours

Monday, Feb 2nd | 2–4pm | Adults & Teens in Grades 9+ | Drop-in | Collaboratory

Do you need dedicated one-on-one help with a graphics project? Our talented volunteer, Kate, will help you use Adobe InDesign, Illustrator, or Photoshop to turn your vision into reality. Stop by between 2-4pm on the first or third Monday of the month. (Only the first Monday in February due to the Presidents' Day holiday)

Woven Together: A Fiber Arts Club for Adults

Thursday, Feb 5th | 6:30–8pm | Adults & Teens in Grades 9+ | Drop-in | Collaboratory

Gather with fellow fiber arts enthusiasts on the first Thursday of the month! Whether you knit, crochet, embroider, cross-stitch, macrame, or create any other type of textile art, there's a place for you here. Bring your current project & supplies. Beginners are welcome. This club is facilitated by Mary Jane Chicowski, a local member of the American Sewing Guild. No registration required!

Open Sew

Open Sew is currently on hiatus. We're sorting out some loose threads and looking for a new group facilitator. We hope to get the group spooled up again soon!

COOL Laboratory

A store-bought card is nice, but a thoughtful hand-made card shows next level appreciation. We have tons of scrapbooking equipment and nice paper for you to use to make a customized, one-of-a-kind card any time you may need one. With Valentine's Day coming up, you may want to get started sooner rather than later! Watch the video to see all the steps, and we hope to see you (and your cards) soon.

Come unwind, get creative, and discover the simple joy of painting.

Talking TED @ Home

Thursday, Feb 12th | 7-8pm | Adults | Zoom | Register (after the lottery period)
Join librarian Cindy Haiken on Zoom to watch and discuss a popular TED talk. Once registered, you will receive an invitation to the Zoom meeting via email on the day of the event. In February, we will watch and discuss Kelly McGonigal's "How to Make Stress Your Friend."

Stress. It makes your heart pound, your breathing quicken and your forehead sweat. But while stress has been made into a public health enemy, new research suggests that stress may only be bad for you if you believe that to be the case. Psychologist Kelly McGonigal urges us to see stress as a positive, and introduces us to an unsung mechanism for stress reduction: reaching out to others.

Premade decks can be provided by the library but bringing your own is encouraged. Trading Card Battle Club meets on the last Tuesday of each month.

♥ Last Words:

Intimacy in Many Forms from Chris Ciemniewski

To coincide with Valentine's Day in the February 2022 issue of Words, I compiled a list of books about the different ways people show love. Along the way I discovered the book How the World Makes Love by Franz Wisner. In the book, Wisner discusses his travels around the world and reflects on the way people from different cultures demonstrate affection, romance, and love towards one another. This year, I decided I wanted to find books about intimacy and how the world shows intimacy. How the World Makes Love was one of the first books that came up in my search. While it is a gem, it has now been almost 20 years since its publication—but thankfully the library is always adding new books to the collection. Here are some of the best books published within the last five years that show how the world gets intimate in ways you may not know...

The newest book on this list, The Sexual Evolution by Nathan H. Lents, explores the history of sex from a biological point of view, both in humans and in other animals. Lents argues that all kinds of diversity are important to evolution—including sexual diversity. Using examples of creative ways animals have learned to procreate, he draws parallels to how sexual diversity in humans is also beneficial to us as a species. It's not survival of the fittest, but of the most diverse, including a variety of sexual strategies and preferences.

While there are a handful of books that already cover the history of sex, Rachel Feltman's Been There Done That is the latest and maybe the most humorous book to romance the subject. After a brief overview of interesting mating practices in the animal kingdom, Feltman turns to sexual practices in recorded history including early interpretations of pregnancy, ancient sex toys, and early explicit drawings. She discusses why we are obsessed with size and even writes an ode to farts.

The book is a lot of fun to read, and Feltman's primary objective seems to be to make sex fun again.

Neuroscientist Stephanie Cacioppo has spent much of her career studying what goes on in our brains when we are in love, but at the age of 37, she was content to be single herself. However, when she met a fellow neuroscientist studying loneliness, she soon felt all of the emotions she had studied for so long. Wired for Love is her story of processing love for the first time in her thirties while analysing her own emotions through brain chemistry and human behavior.

In today's fast paced world it can be difficult to find that special someone. Finding Normal by Alexa Tsoulis-Reay explores online dating and hookup culture and our human desire to find someone who we are sexually compatible with. She argues that technology is increasingly used to find community and belonging and that, at its core, finding a sexual partner (although not necessarily a romantic partner) is really the search for the most intimate type of belonging. We look for someone who is as "normal" as ourselves.

The next few books on this list feature stories of intimacy from different backgrounds including diverse cultures, gender identities, orientations, and life experiences.

In Hindi the word besham roughly translates to shameless. In her book Besharam, author Priya-Alika Elias reflects on the challenges of how women are portrayed in society and offers sassy anecdotes about becoming shameless about love, sex, and body image. This feminist collection is for anyone looking for fresh takes on how to disrupt today's taboos.

Slow Noodles follows the life of Chantha Nguon, a Cambodian woman who lost her home and most of her family during the reign of Pol Pot. She seeks refuge in Thailand and spends two decades cooking in a brothel and serving drinks in a nightclub. In the book she interweaves traditional recipes with stories from the brothel and memories of her family.

In Dyscalculia Camonghne Felix reflects back on her "miscalculations in love" in poetic prose. She uses math as a metaphor for her actions in the "formula" of love and attempts to discern which variables led to heartbreak. Through the various love stories Felix asks the question "Who gets to assert their right to pain?"

Jeremy Atherton Lin's Deep House reads like a gay fever dream. After the United States Congress prepares the Defense of Marriage Act, Lin moves to London with the guy of his dreams. The book then follows their travels around the world as they try to find a welcoming place to call home through remote forests, sex clubs, dive bars, and hotel rooms, along the way running into a cast of bartenders, criminals, friars, artists, and more. This one is perfect for fans of Heated Rivalry who are looking for more steamy gay stories in defiance of gender norms.

When wife and mother Molly Roden Winter told her husband Stewart that a flirtatious man at a bar asked her out on a date, Stewart encouraged her to accept. This begins Molly and Stewart's open relationship and extramarital (but consensual) sexual encounters. Winter chronicles her open love life in her book More, which defies conventional marriage norms and explores the possibilities and struggles that come with a polyamorous lifestyle.

In 2022 Teen Vogue sex and love columnist Nona Willis Aronowitz felt that her ideas of feminism and sexual liberation had fallen apart due to political turmoil. Bad Sex is a symposium of her attempt to reclaim her sexual authenticity. She looks back hundreds of years to discover stories of "ambivalent wives, free lovers, radical lesbians, and sensitive men" to rediscover her own sexual satisfaction and push through the horrors of patriarchal capitalism, in the process shining a light on the universal questions of desire.

Vanessa Riley

Swashbuckling Heroines and High Seas Adventures

Thursday, Feb 5th | 7-8pm | Zoom | Register

Join us as we chat online with Vanessa Riley about her newest book, Fire Sword and Sea, based on the story of the female pirate Jacquotte Delahaye. In the Caribbean Sea in 1675, Delahaye is the mixed-race daughter of a tavern owner on the island of Tortuga. Instead of marriage, Jacquotte dreams of joining the seafarers and smugglers whose tall-masted ships cluster in the turquoise waters around Tortuga. In Haiti she becomes Jacques, a dockworker, earning the respect of those around her while hiding her gender. For the next 20 years, she raids the Caribbean, making enemies and amassing a fortune in stolen gold. When her fellow pirates decide to increase their profits by entering the slave trade, Jacquotte turns away from piracy and begins to plot a war of liberation.

Vanessa Riley is an award-winning author and the recipient of the 2024 Georgia Mystery/Detective Fiction Author of the Year. Her work has been featured in the Atlanta Journal-Constitution, the Washington Post, NPR, and The New York Times.

Dr. Lindsey Stewart

Mojos, Mermaids, Medicine, and 400 Years of Black Women's Magic
Thursday, Feb 12th | 2-3pm | Zoom | Register

Feminist philosopher Dr. Lindsey Stewart's book, The Conjuring of America: Mojos, Mermaids, Medicine, and 400 Years of Black Women's Magic, tells the stories of Negro Mammies of slavery, the Voodoo Queens and Blues Women of Reconstruction, and the Granny Midwives and textile weavers of the Jim Crow era. These women continued their practices and worship for centuries and passed down their traditions. Stewart uncovers new contours of American history, sourcing letters from the enslaved and dispatches from the lore of Oshun and other African mystics. The Conjuring of America is a love letter to the real magic Black women used that sowed rebellion, freedom, and hope.

Lindsey Stewart is a Black feminist philosopher and an Associate Professor of philosophy at the University of Memphis. She is the author of The Politics of Black Joy. Her work has been featured in Blavity, Signs, Hypatia, and the British Journal for the History of Philosophy.

IN OTHERS' Words...

In the last days of humanity, humans cultivated a growing disdain for their own soul. Many didn't even believe in the sanctity of the creative process anymore; they wanted to eliminate it and usher in automation to do the work. But it didn't go the way the humans wanted or expected; creativity meant experiencing, processing, understanding human joy and pain.
